John V. Watkins was professor of environmental horticulture and devoted his professional life to teaching courses in landscape horticulture at the University of Florida. Thomas J. Sheehan is professor emeritus with the Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences at the University of Florida. Robert J. Black is professor emeritus with the Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences at the University of Florida.

It is a good book and a must have for a serious gardener’s library.I don’t use it as one of my main references, since the pictures are black and white drawings, and I am usually looking for the more unusual plants, but it is a great cross reference.

A previous edition "Revised Edition" contained many color plates.

This is a Florida landscape bible. I can’t imagine anything out there that could compare.

Basic informative book, if I had the time I would read every page.

Couldn’t have done the fantastic job I did without it

Great guide to Florida gardening.
