Synopsis

Marsha R. Kennedy has always had a constant need to travel and to live around the world. In January of 2009, she set off on an adventure living and working in Pohnpei, Federated States of Micronesia (an island that is only a tiny speck on the globe) as an Attorney for the Micronesian government. This travel essay is a humorous recount of some of her experiences there. A list of Ã¢â ¬Å“101 Things I Learned Living in Micronesia (FSM) That You Probably Should Consider before Moving ThereÃ¢â ¬Â• is a list of anecdotes included at the end.

Customer Reviews

Excellent book about what it’s like to be an American attorney abroad. Insightful, funny and hard to put down, I would highly recommend this book to anyone who has practiced law, or just wants to know what it it truly like to work over seas.
