STEVEN ROGERS is senior lecturer at Harvard Business School, his alma mater, where he teaches finance, each year, to hundreds of worldwide high-growth entrepreneurs, business owners, and corporate leaders. He was previously the Gordon and Llura Gund Family Distinguished Professor at Kellogg, where he was the most decorated professor in the school’s history. He was selected Professor of the Year a record two times in the MBA program and 26 times in the Executive MBA program. He is a recipient of the "Entrepreneur of the Year Award" by Ernst and Young.

The single best book on finance I have ever read. Steven Rogers, Professor of Entrepreneurship at Kellogg, is brilliant. I took a course from him during my MBA program at Northwestern and it was by far my favorite. This update on his first addition is excellent.

As an entrepreneur, this book summarized for me the important concepts of finance and financial strategy in a way that is easily digestible. This is no easy task because I’ve read a few finance books over the years and honestly, this has been the most useful and practical one I’ve read thus far. So whether you’re looking for a refresher on financial concepts you’ve already learned or for book that will teach you about new ones, this is definitely a great read.

If you are even flirting with the idea of starting a business, BUY THIS BOOK!

It explains a lot and has great examples.

I've been using this book to help me with teaching business planning and management classes. I have found it incredibly helpful.

Needed it for school. Great price, great read

As expected.
