This is an in-depth study on prayer. Every aspect of prayer is discussed with lots of scripture to back up the author’s statements. It is not an easy book to read and you will probably find yourself returning to some sections and reading again to absorb the content. Anyone who wants to learn more about prayer needs to read this book.

Currently going through this with my almost 10 year old son, and he loves it. He really enjoys the "soldier" theme, and is grasping all of the concepts that are being taught about what an inductive Bible study is. I have found each lesson to be just the right length - not too long or too short. I will definitely be using more of these studies in the future.

I wanted to learned to prayer in a more meaningful way. The most most important thing that I learned was, in praying, to do the will of the Lord; and to do so with the intent to glorify his holy name. Sometimes, it is easy to forget to keep it simple. Let the Holy spirit work in your heart. pray increasingly. God is eager to answer his children’s players.

It was to wordy for me. Some of the words were hard to read.

It takes way too long to do this study with 4th grade and younger kids. We can’t do a day in less than an hour. Though the study is pretty good, it takes too much time, and my kids don’t really have the concentration for that long of a time. I think they would like it better if it were more concise.

My 7 year old is enjoying this. He usually does my adult precept studies with me so this is a lighter study for the summer and he enjoys the puzzles. My 6 year old is not ready for this but we try to jnclude him as much as possible. It's a good one to start with when using these materials.

As I mention is other reviews, that these studies are really good but the NIRV bible version would have made them better. My 6th grader liked this study and had a lot to say about the way we pray. It was really cool to see him think for himself and offer his own opinions.

This book is not for the casual reader; you need to be thoroughly engaged! Andrew Murray has many helpful insights into the way we often pray, and how our prayer life can (and should be) a source of power for our Christian walk.
