Elizabeth Carney is the author of Everything Big Cats. Her other books for National Geographic include several titles in the National Geographic Readers series as well as Face to Face With Cheetahs and Face to Face With Gorillas with Chris Johns and Michael Nichols, respectively.

I gave this book as a gift for a 12 year old who wants to be a Marine Biologist: his eyes lit up as he looked through the book, English is his second language and it helps to have a beautiful book to interest him

The photos and information are fantastic - superb Nat Geo quality. The only reason for 4 stars is that the binding is quite weak, only just stronger than a magazine, and so the 'book' has already separated from the cover. Otherwise, it is great!

This book has great photos and pictures. A lot of the information in the book is presented in "snippets": a fact here, another there.

My son loved it

Very good book. Lot of useful information. My daughter liked it.

Great

Got it for my 4 year old granddaughter. She fell in love with dolphins on our trip to Florida in March. She lives the book! Looks at it every day!

My niece has been looking for a book about dolphins for awhile. This book is perfect for her
