"At last, an activityÃ Â [book] for Metal Heads. From Slipknot to Spinal Tap, the brain teasers are all there. Use some magic and the answers are sure to come."Ã Â —Ronnie James Dio, former front man, Black Sabbath and Rainbow"Who says you can only use a good gimmick once? Not Aye Jay Morano. The Californian artist's previous project, the self-explanatory Gangsta Rap Coloring Book, was a cult Hollywood hit, and gathered a clutch of celebrity endorsements."Ã Â —The Guardian"Never has 'fun time' been so charged with such raw, terror-fueled rock power."Ã Â —Utne.com"The perfect gift for the metal head who has everything"Ã Â —Pensacola Independent News"Why would you not want this?"Ã Â —Alternative Press, altpress.com"A fun, knowing tribute that takes its metal trivia seriously and still affectionately goofs on it."Ã Â —Bust"YouÃ¢â ¬â„¢ll have a stupid grin on your face."Ã Â —Revolver"All the darkness and anger that you've come to know and love and are ready to pass on."Ã Â —Juxtapoz Art & Culture Magazine Online

Aye Jay is the author of The Gangsta Rap Coloring Book and The Indie Rock Connect-the-Dots book. He lives in Chico, California. Andrew W. K. is a hard rock musician. He lives in Los Angeles.

Being a rock & metal fan, I bought this book for myself out of sheer curiousity. It's basically an activity book for adults that includes everything from coloring to drawing, word searches, crosswords, mazes and so forth. I must say, I DID have a lot of fun with it! It has all the fun stuff in the activity books we used to do as kids, but the activities in this book are all related to rock & heavy metal bands/musicians. So if you're not a fan of this music, you won't really "get the joke" behind most of the activities in this... But if you ARE a fan of rock and/or heavy metal, you'll probably LOVE this!I AM more of a fan of rock/classic rock, but do like some heavy metal as well. There WERE some activities related to a small few of heavy metal bands I've never heard of in this activity book, but it was no big deal (at least not to me). They were still fun to do!My dad is also a rock & roll fan and I ended up buying another one of these activity books as a stocking stuffer for him last Christmas. :)Whether you want to test your trivia by doing a "Hair Metal" crossword puzzle or give your art skills a try by drawing Iron Maiden's character, "Eddie," there's SOMETHING in this activity book for every rock/metal fan!It also contains several pages just for coloring, such as a page to color Judas Priest and "old" & "current" Metallica, plus many others (i.e., Glen Danzig, etc).Remember those activities where you had to find the two designs that matched EXACTLY? Those are also available - only you have to find the two matching BAND logos instead (such as Slayer or Van Halen logos that match EXACTLY!) It was much more challenging than I had expected - LOL.Another activity you'll find is how many words you can make out of the name of a band... (I was surprised that I was actually able to make more than 30 words out of the letters from "White Zombie" - LOL). Mazes are included also - can you help Spinal Tap through the backstage area without getting lost? I couldn't! LOL. But I WAS able to correctly complete the maze to help Ozzy get to Ozzfest! There's even a "Metal Libs" (instead of "Mad Libs").Guns N' Roses, Motorhead, Black Sabbath, Aerosmith, Yngwie Malmsteen, Tool, Corrosion of Comformity, Pantera, Kiss, Neurosis, Sepultura, Danzig, Led Zeppelin, Anthrax, Slipknot, AC/DC and GWAR are just a handful of other rock/metal bands you'll find in this activity book to color, connect the dots to help figure out who they are, unscramble their song titles, do trivia crosswords, etc. And when it comes to the activities, if you DO get real stumped (and, for example, just can't figure out a certain crossword), the majority of the answers are provided for you near the back of the book. (Of course there's no answers available for pages that are just for coloring, or for dot-to-dot exercises, or for the metal version of "Mad Libs" as that's open to self-interpretation, obviously).I apologize for the long review! I didn't want to give too much away, but I DID just want to provide everyone with a little bit more detailed info on the types of activities this book includes, as well as examples of the bands that are in it so you have a better idea on whether or not this is truly for you (or a friend you have in mind!)I agree with the majority of everyone else who reviewed this activity book. It simply provides some rare & unique fun for the "rock & roller" or "metal-head!" I definitely recommend it to any & all rock/metal fans AND their friends!! \m/

I bought this as a birthday gift for a friend (34 year old female), she loves KMFDM, Gwar, and any metal music in general.I flipped through the book ahead of time. There is a Sudoku puzzle with just the numbers 6, 6, and 6. There is a connect-the-dots page of Dimebag Darryl (of Pantera). There are mazes, logo match-ups, and 'find the difference' pages as well as many artists/bands to color. Gwar is in here too.My friend loved this gift. She immediately started taking pictures and sending them to friends, encouraging them to buy this coloring book too because it "is awesome" and "hilarious" (her words). I'm not even a metal fan and even I wanted this for myself.I highly recommend this activity/coloring book.

My fiance is a metal drummer and when I purchased this for him, I thought to myself, "He will either LOVE this or hate it." When he opened it up on Christmas day, he asked our 3-year-old if he could borrow his crayons so he could immediately start doing his activity book. This has mad libs, connect the dots, find the differences, and so many more, all focused around Pantera, Danzig, and Judas Priest. I plan on keeping this book a secret from my friends for awhile so I can gift it some more.

A gift for my niece. She loves it.

Hilarious, great for any metal head who is annoyingly particular about their music, or has a good sense of humor. The cover is hella nice--matte with gloss details. Not at all a flimsy coloring book like I anticipated--thankfully.

This is sooooo much fun! I'm having a blast with this book, there's really allot to it. Connect the dots on Dime Bag's goatee, help Ozzy get to Ozzfest maze, color Metallica from two different decades and a ton more. This book is absolutely worth getting for any rock & metal fan \m/

I don't know a damn thing about heavy metal, but the way my friends face lit up when he opened this gift tells me all I need to know. He's a true heavy metal fan and discerning at that, and he was psyched to receive this!

From a fan perspective, this was pretty great. Most of the pages were humorous. However, some of the games were for 4 year old kids who are not metal fans. My girlfriend liked it a lot.
