Synopsis

The Cleveland Way is a horseshoe-shaped 109 mile footpath in North Yorkshire. The first part of the route takes the walker across remote moorland and, in contrast, the second half follows the coast through bustling seaside towns. Both sections contain interesting attractions that give the rambler a break from constant walking.This short book (29 pages) is designed to help walkers planning a holiday around The Cleveland Way. It includes details of accommodation, tourist attractions, tea shops and restaurants plus some information about the route. The book is based around a 10 day walk along The Cleveland Way by the author in August 2013 and includes website details to enable current prices, opening hours etc. to be checked prior to departure.Use the information provided to:Arrange to have your luggage moved whilst you walk with only a daysackBook bed and breakfast accommodationDiscover historical sites along the footpathFind somewhere to eat or have a cup of tea Sally Jenkins is an enthusiastic long distance walker and has successfully completed several long distance one day challenge walks including The Charnwood Marathon, Malvern Midsummer Marathon, and The Birmingham Canal Canter. Sally has also walked the Llyn Peninsula Coastal Path (Edge of Wales Walk) - a 95 mile route from Caernarfon to Porthmadog.
