Synopsis

Are you looking for information about making all natural dog treats? So was I, even after spending a LOT of time researching and looking around the internet. I could find a lot of recipes and information about making bakery style bone shaped treats, --not what I was looking for. I wanted treats WITHOUT flour and grains, seed oils, added sugars, and other highly refined and overly processed ingredients. I wanted treats made with REAL food! One day while making a batch of beef jerky for my own mid-day caveman paleo snacks, it hit me! I thought why not make a batch of unseasoned jerky for my BFFs. The results were amazing! The dogs loved those jerky tidbits! That moment was the beginning of this collection of recipes!Over the next several months, I dehydrated nearly everything the dogs might like. The ten recipes in this book are the tail-wagging favorites. They are simple, easy to make, and require very little time for preparation in our busy and random lives.For a complete table of contents, click the Ã¢â ¬Å“Look InsideÃ¢â ¬Â• button.Here is a preview for some of what you will find:Beef JerkySalmon JerkyDehydrated Chicken GizzardsDehydrated Sweet Potato ChipsWould you like to know more?Scroll to the top of the page and grab your copy today!Whether you are using a dehydrator for the first time or have been using one for many years, this book will provide you with information and ideas for making your own caveman or paleo style dog treats. Customer Reviews

Not worth 2.99

There are good recipes here, but most of them are no-brainers. If you are new to cooking for your furry friends then this is good for dehydrating, but not cooking. Look for other books on baking if you want to make treats.

good

I found this book to be short and repetitive. Almost everything gets dehydrated for the same amount of time. There isn't many items to make either. I wanted to have a better review but didn't find it informative whatsoever. As another reviewer mentioned, the beets and sweet potato need to be cooked prior to dehydrating. Could have been better researched prior to taking the time to write a book(let) about the subject.

I loved these recipes, but the sweet potatoes and beets need to cooked before dehydrating, dogs cannot eat them raw.
