I know were in a digital age but they should never stop making these. I’m an appraiser and have been using the Thomas guide for over 30 years in naming my files so it’s easy to locate other reports I might be able to use as a template for a new assignment. The local MLS systems have retired the Thomas Guide filed but FNMA reports still require map reference. I was freaking out for a while because I had to do a whole new naming convention for my files and it took twice as long to locate a template. It dawned on me that maybe there were still Thomas Guides available on and thank god there are. My efficiency has increased again and stress levels has been significantly reduced!!!!

I was looking everywhere for one of these. Went to a handful of stores and they seemed to not even know what I was talking about. Super happy to have found it on here. I enjoy using this "old school" map.

Google maps is a great app but if you want to know where a place is in relation to your point of origin - or in relation to other possible choices for a particular store, for example, look at a user friendly map like Thomas Guide to find that actually the one in Chula Vista is closer than the one in Kearny Mesa & fewer freeway changes. Get a much clearer idea of where you are going.
