Award winning author Jenny L. Cote developed an early passion for God, history, and young people, and beautifully blends these passions together in herÃ Â fantasy fiction series The Amazing Tales of Max and Liz and Epic Order of the Seven (September 2010).Ã Â When not writing herself, JennyÃ Â teaches students about the art of creative writing through fun, highly interactive workshops at schools and universities across the country. JennyÃ Â lives in Roswell, Georgia, with her husband Casey, son Alex.

I messed up on getting to review the first book "The Ark, the Reed, and the Fire Cloud" so consider this my review on both. (I was able to give the previous book five stars but I didn't write anything.)So, this series is a must for any child in this age range who loves not only God but animals too. My daughter had only read one series before this (Bad Kitty books) and those were short but very cute and well done. I knew she could read well but she just never got bitten by the bug of reading for enjoyment. These books have done that! Yippeee! Not only did she rip through the first book but begged me to get the second book so she could read it as soon as she was done with the first.These books are daunting as they are quite long but I (at first) assigned my daughter a 30 minute reading time. Now, I homeschool and she has 30 minute reading regardless of her desire to do it or not. She has read many books that others would probably adore but this series took only about five 30 minute reading assignments before she just suddenly read for an hour or more ... all on her own. It got to be that she wanted to start school with reading first because she would just extend it on and on. I got hip to that pretty fast and had to assign the reading as her last subject but still, she would read for an hour or two without stop ... without playing on the Wii or watching TV either!I also love the fact that this author is so accessible and friendly. We wrote to her on Facebook and within 30 minutes, she had written back. It made my daughter's day to know that Max & Liz's owner actually wrote back! And yes, she does indeed own (a) Max & Liz which you can watch fun videos of on her FB page. Awesome!We just love these books and soon we will be buying the next in the series. Thanks so much Jenny for a wonderful fantasy set in reality. I love the world that my daughter is exploring with your Max & Liz! :)

Both of my grandchildren are enjoying this book. They are eager to move on to the next book in this series. What a wonderful alternative to the other secular series of books! Bringing the story of Noah and the Flood to life for young hearts who love animals and can use their imagination to help them relate to God and His miracle-working power for His creation and His creatures

I was hooked with the first book so my expectations were in the rafters. Don't you hate it when you hear so many good things about a book or movie and finally read or see it for yourself only to be totally let down by the experience? It happens to me all the time...you know...the sequel is never as good as the original and yet they are produced all the time. So I went into The Dreamer, The Schemer & The Robe with high hopes and dared Jenny to let me down. She didn't! It was equally awesome.Jenny again uses her wonderful characters to put an unusual spin on a time tested Bible story. The process Jenny uses to align her characters with the story is nothing short of a puzzle itself. Once everyone gets in place and the rest of the story unfolds, it was just as thought provoking as the first book. Again, a story I have heard a million times and this book took me to fresh places. Well Done!So...here I sit, totally enthusiastic about both of Jenny Cote's books and waiting impatiently for the next to be published. My expectations are now in the sky and I can't wait to reconnect with the lovable characters that I feel I know. Hurry up please...I can't wait forever.For others that have not discovered Jenny Cote's books...please don't hesitate. Jump in. You will be glad you did. But I warn you...you will be frustrated when you read the last page of this book and know you have to wait for the third book. It is a small price to pay though for incredible entertainment.

We pre-ordered The Dreamer, the Schemer, and a Robe after falling in love with The Ark, the Reed, and the Fire Cloud. My daughter wanted me to go to the local Christian bookstore to check everyday to see if they had the next book in stock, so placing a pre-order let her know we would get the book as soon as possible.We were not disappointed and if it is possible, I think we liked this book even more than the first. We did it as a read aloud and my 7, 10 and 13 year olds loved it as did I. My 2 year old hasn't yet taken on the love of Max and Liz but I'm sure her time will come. We have lent these books out a couple of times and everyone we have lent them to has loved them as well. I bought a copy for our library because it wasn't available there yet.I am thrilled to see some well written, interesting books that encourage our kids to make right choices and to build their faith and trust in God. They point you go God without being preachy like many other Christian stories for kids.We are now waiting, not so patiently, for the next book in the series.

I really thought that some of the book encouraged me to think a little harder on some parts of life.Other parts were a little challenging to thing about and others were a breeze on an ocean for a sailboat.hope the author of this book writes more than just three books with Max&Liz!!!I hope she does for these three reasons1. i think they encourage people to listen to god when help is needed thru him or by him2.they give new meaning to master of all creation.3. they are great for all ages and that it’s a godly way of telling a perfect story from the heart!

amazing series!!!! I love them!!!!

My daughter loves this series! It is fiction that follows the Bible so I always have her read the section/stories in the Bible before and after reading these books. This helps her seperate fact from fiction. I love that she gets so interested in the stories of the Bible!!

My kids (son 12, daughter 10) absolutely love this whole series. They eat them up as soon as they come out now and read them over and over. Great job Jenny Cote! Keep them coming!!
