We used this book with my non-reading daughter and though she has only learned a few of the songs so far, she really is enjoying it. The pictures are cute and colorful and the characters hold her attention well. My daughter started doing these when she was five and she especially liked the simple pictures. Our older daughter is using this to teach her and she has found that the lessons flow nicely. The one thing we wish is that there were more traditional Christian songs rather than mostly the non-religious Christmas songs.

This book is very short (10 songs), only four of which are something most children will have actually heard of. (The others are a mix of "traditional Christmas carols you barely hear nowadays" and "stuff we made up because they told us we had to have ten songs.")

Excellent. Our six year old just started piano lessons and the Faber series was the first book recommended by our teacher. I only wished that there was an accompanying CD for this Chrismas series.

played through in no time very engaging

Lots of songs, but only a handful that a 6 year old has actually heard (or for that matter most of us). He was able to learn the pieces easily and play for the family sing along on Christmas Eve.

Very fun for beginner pianists to have holiday songs they can play. Looking forward to the holidays now!

This book is great for beginners, but contains many songs that I had never heard of. I was hoping for more familiar songs for my 5 year old to get excited about.

This book of Christmas favorites is right in line with the level of the other My First Piano books for children. This was used by my first grader. He liked the songs around Christmas, but he played them even more at other times during the year because they are familiar. If you have the other piano books, this fits in well. It is also a great stand alone for Christmas songs.
