Stanley Newman, crossword editor for the Long Island newspaper Newsday, is syndicated worldwide to more than 100 daily, Sunday, and Internet newspapers. His puzzles have appeared regularly in Prevention, People, Sport, and Businessweek magazines. Newman is the author or editor of more than 125 books and has organized and conducted many puzzle and trivia events in the United States, including four seminars at the Smithsonian Institution and, in 2007, the first crossword tournament ever held at Yale University. He lives in New York with his wife and has three grown children.

It was supposed to questions about stars, most of the questions aren’t. Also the puzzles were too small, hard to see the print.

Really nice book and love the puzzles

Was given to someone as a gift and they truly liked it.

Interesting and somewhat mind challenging.

Hours of fun if you like celebrity, tv, movie type crosswords. I wish the grids were larger and the clues smaller. Kind of a weird design but I got use to it quickly. The Sport section was a little hard for me, but I knew more answers than I thought I would.
