You won't believe why this old lady swallowed a chick, some straw, an egg, some candy, a basket, and a bow! Oh, no! Read this book to find out why! --This text refers to an alternate Paperback edition.

My kiddos LOVE the old lady series. They are always trying to figure out what the big picture is at the end, which is one reason I love this series.

I read this book over the Easter Weekend on Steam Into History train in New Freedom, PA. The train was holding it’s Easter Bunny Run. The book really helped to bring the families and children together. Thanks for sending the book so promptly.

My grandson loves all the "There Was An Old Lady" books, we just added this one to our collection of holiday favorites.

Very cute book in a different version of the classic rhyme. My children love it.

I used this for story time at an Easter activity for children ages 3-12 and they all loved it. Even the adults present got a good laugh. We have enjoyed all of the There Was an Old Lady Who Swallowed stories. My daughter was first introduced to them by her school teacher. She said they are some of the classrooms favorite books.

I would "sing read" all of the "There Was an Old Lady..." stories in my general music classroom. It was a favorite amongst all of my grades...especially my lower elementary students. They always knew when a holiday or new season was approaching, I would pull one of these out. They would sing it with me!

We love all the old lady book, fromÃ Â There Was An Old Lady Who Swallowed A Bell!Ã Â toÃ Â There Was an Old Lady Who Swallowed a Bat!. Each "old lady" book is similar in text pattern, but each story is loved and adored by kids ages three to eight. They are always wondering what in the world the old lady will swallow next and why in the world would she swallow the things she does. In this book, the hungry old lady swallows a chick, some straw, an egg, some candy, a basket, and a bow! The patterns of the text makes it easy for a non-reader to follow along and it is easy enough for an early reader to read. This would make a great addition to a child’s Easter Basket or a fabulous gift from a classroom teacher to their students before spring break.

I love the ending of this one every bit as much as my grandchildren!
