Synopsis

Tony Huegel’s glove-box-sized Byways guides have led backcountry drivers for more than a decade. From day trips to weekend getaways, the 51 tours here take explorers from sky-scraping peaks overlooking Lake Tahoe to the cool forests of the southern Sierra and the pale washes of the Mojave Desert. Many are near secluded campsites and can be jumping-off points for hiking and mountain biking. All follow established roads through some of the wildest country in the West. With tours for drivers of every experience level, this updated edition covers the entire Sierra as well as the Inyo and White Mountains. Descriptions are augmented with full-page photographs and two-color maps of each trip.

Customer Reviews

Adventure-driving expert Tony Huegel, who grew up in the San Francisco Bay Area, has a lifelong history of exploring far off the beaten path. Before embarking on extensive travels through the wildlands of the American West for his acclaimed Backcountry Byways guidebook series, Tony hitchhiked and road freight trains cross-country several times, thumbed his way to Alaska, drove a 1965 VW bug to Guatemala in the midst of its civil war, and "autostopped" his way alone across North Africa and Europe. He paused just long enough to earn a bachelor’s degree in journalism at the University of California, Berkeley. Since then he’s been a full-time news reporter, photographer, editor, author and magazine freelancer.

Lots of new good stuff in the new edition

I buy these books and are never disappointed. The details are spot on and I never leave home without them!

I love exploring backroads. Every time my wife and I are on a highway, I drive her crazy by pointing at side roads and wondering aloud where they go. Now I know where many of them begin and end. I also know what condition they're in and how long they'll take to explore. Tony Huegel's Byways books are invaluable to anyone who enjoys getting off the beaten path.

Great Guide to 4x4 trails and off road places. A little over priced.

Great reference.

Very detailed

Worked for our family
