Maggie Chow or Chef Maggie Chow as she likes to be called. Is the author and creator of your favorite Easy Cookbooks and The Effortless Chef Series. Maggie is a lover all things related to food. Interestingly she is a vegetarian and prefers to avoid meat. So rest assured that her veggie based recipes will be delicious! But don’t worry because she is master of cooking savory and delicious meat based meals as well. Maggie loves nothing more than finding new recipes, trying them out, and then making them her own, by adding or removing ingredients, tweaking cooking times, and anything to make the recipe not only taste better, but be easier to cook. Check out Maggie's Facebook, Twitter, and her blog and be sure to like and subscribe!

I have been looking for recipes that would have been made by my Austrian/Hungarian Grandmother for a long time. Well when I had a chance to get this book I grabbed it. The first recipe I saw was for "Hungarian Poppy Seed Pastry". I can remember my mother making this when I was a child and I loved it. The big thing then was I thought it was German and from her side of the family. Another recipe I remember as a child is Poppy seed bread but Chef Maggie Chow calls it "Bread from Eastern Europe". Now I can make the recipes that I loved as a child and show my family how good they are. The only recipe I did not see from my past is "Sour Beans" but I have that one down to a science. It has no recipe per say just so much of this and a glug, glug of that you know the kind of recipe. The one Grandma made and had no recipe for it.

very poor - it is a mixture of recipes anything but "authentic" Hungarian. Some of the recipes have ingredients that you would not find in Hungary or are not originating in Hungary
