Synopsis

An informative and humorous account of a trip down the Rhine on MPS Rotterdam during July 2015. This has been written with the typical Phil Gulliver slant and humour making it an entertaining and informative read. A photographic essay providing the reader with information about the ships accommodation and facilities together with the experiences of a first cruise. Photographs give you a good idea of what to expect from the stops, the cruising and more.Extract - "The afternoon stroll into Breisach nearly killed me. Going into town is fine, just a gentle incline, however, the route up to the church is something else! As I left my wife in the shade I noticed an elderly woman coming down some steps in the direction I wanted to go. So rather than take the path which I had been warned was steep, I took the steps. If it is ok for her it must be ok for me was my reckoning. WRONG, so very wrong. I made it to church, somehow God must have been on my side that afternoon and I did not need a paramedic after all. Sometimes you just feel so wimpy (not in a cafÃƒÂ© sense either), but as I descended the steps I noticed a builder pushing a barrow full of bricks up the sodding steps that nearly saw my demise. Life is just not fair sometimes I feel.Over 8000 words and 60 colour photographs.
