About the author, Paul Carden: For more than 30 years, Paul Carden has been a leading researcher of religions, cults, and new religious movements. He joined Christian Research Institute and was the director of International Outreach under its founder, Walter Martin. Today he is executive director of the Centers for Apologetics Research, an organization that monitors and researches religions and cults around the world.

Did not like this study at all. Staunch and one sided. Not much to learn here

This is a great book to go with the video series. The author is very thorough and does a good job of describing the history and tenets of several religions in detail, as well as tips on how to relate to people with strongly diverse religious beliefs. Well done.

I really like the notes in this guide. The thing I found disappointing in the E-version is that the notebook feature is not enabled. So if you want to take notes, you must do it in a separate area. If you find out differently I would love to know how to get that working!

Very in depth

Purchased for class

It is the best study our Sunday School Class has done. Highly recommend. Studing other religions is very interesting. Awesome.

Would recommend.It is compelling and interesting. Very fact filled, with many facts. It brings out a lot of thought provoking topics.
