As I have already stated in a previous review, I bought this for my granddaughter in the first grade.

She is a little behind in reading, so I purchased several books in several levels and different difficulties trying to catch her up. This book is a mid-difficulty level 2. It is challenging but not as hard to read as some of the level 2's I bought. It is about monsters and all kids fear yet are drawn to monster stories. It is very cutely written and will definately draw a child into the story. My granddaughter loves it and so do her younger siblings. There are a lot of challenging words to try and will work well to get her to "reach" for the reading and understanding of the words.

I wanted to buy a book for a kindergarten child who is learning to read and found David L. Harrison's Step-Into-Reading book, A Monster Is Coming. The storyline is simple but funny, and the color illustrations are so cute! The little boy really enjoyed it. This was a great choice.

Love it

An Accelerated Reader Book so students can test on it. Very cute story for scared kids.

Wasn't thrilled with the story line. Kids liked it, however. Great repetition, therefore purpose was served...which was reading practice for my first grader.

Nice book .My son and I enjoyed reading this. His reading ability is improving more and more with each book we share.We recommend reading this with your young reader.

My 5 yr old enjoyed reading this book. It took her two sittings to finish - which is normal for her with the level 2's. It was funny and we both enjoyed it and will read many times again!

This is a charming little book. It is very funny, as my daughter says. One of her favorite books! A bedtime favorite.
