Gr. 2^-3. It's too bad the illustrations aren't livelier, because the story about the first Seeing Eye dog in America is quite upbeat and contains some interesting anecdotes. Moore's telling is a little stiff at first, but the circumstances, relayed in a straightforward manner softened with some conversation, win out: Moore follows the dog from training in Switzerland to home in America with Morris Frank, who was instrumental in starting the Seeing Eye in America in the 1930s. The typeface is slightly enlarged, and there's additional leading to make the reading easier. Not every page has an illustration, but there are plenty of pictures to break up the text. Stephanie Zvirin

Eva Moore has been writing and editing children’s books for more than forty years. She is the beloved author of many popular books, and lives in Montauk, New York.A graduate of New York City’s prestigious Cooper Union Art School, accomplished artist and calligrapher Don Bolognese went on to teach art there and at New York University, Pratt Institute, as well as at the Metropolitan Museum of Art’s medieval museum, the Cloisters. He has illustrated more than 90 books for children, many of which he wrote himself; on many others, he has collaborated with his wife, the author and illustrator Elaine Raphael.One way in which Bolognese has been able to connect teaching and illustration is through his many Ã¢â ¬Å“how-toÃ¢â ¬Â• books for children, which range from relatively simple exercises in drawing skills to more complex lessons in art techniques. Bolognese himself has illustrated a wide variety of fiction and nonfiction works, and his attention to detail and vivid presentation have earned him critical acclaim and numerous awards. A native of New York City, Bolognese now lives in New York and Vermont.

Morris Frank and Buddy. Another true story of the first Guide Dog for the Blind in the USA.Morris Frank trained with Buddy overseas in the Swiss Alps by Dorothy Eustis and Jack Humphrey.Good book; teaches how the blind (Morris) was trained to feel different movements of the dogs harness to know what the dog is doing, where to walk, when to stop, start, turn.Morris is taught how to work with Buddy, how to care for her.Buddy saves Morris’s life on a old county road. Protects his money!Then it’s back to the USA where Morris and Buddy ’equal partners’ with help from Dorothy and Jack train other people to be teachers and open the first Guide Dog School; The Seeing Eye. Thousands of blind people were trained to use and care for a guide dog.The Idea of using guide dogs for the blind originated in Germany. Jack Humphrey was trained in a school in Germany. Possibly other countries, people in the past worked this way with dogs. Dog (wolf) and humans since ancient times!

I purchased this as a gift for my niece and she loves it!!! :)

good book for my son to read for school

My grand daughter read this for her summer reading. She loved the story and now understand about seeing eye dogs.

My 1st grade son’s teacher read this book in class, and he loved it so much he wanted me to buy it.

The book is challenging enough for him to read, but he was able to read it with minimum help the first time. Ever since, he's been reading it on his own. He will sit down and read it for an hour at a time.

I bought this book for my 5 year old granddaughter. The story is interesting enough to read over and over again.

My great nieces and great nephews love this book. I sent it to one of them and they have shared the book and seemed to have loved it. I kept one book for me (I ordered 2) because this is the story I read when I was in 2nd grade that inspired me to become a trainer of guide dogs...which I was successful at.

I read this story with my daughter and we both loved it. Learning about the history of seeing eye dogs was a 'eye opener'. The writing and pictures were very good. You will not be disappointed.
