Synopsis

Fifty challenging games you can play while traveling, whether by car, train, bus, or plane--no equipment necessary! Ã Â When staring at the back bumper of the car in front of you ceases to be amusing, you need Adult on Board: Travel Games for Grown-Ups, a fabulous collection of entertaining diversions that will beat the monotony of long trips. Included are games that expose the deepest secrets of your traveling companions, singing and rhyming games, memory games, guessing games, license-plate and travel-sign games, and games for wordplay wizards. Now getting there is all the fun.

Not worth the paper really!

I was hoping for something for "group" travel, like on a bus. The items in this book are better for small groups. Some of the games are fairly complicated, and a little beyond more than 3-4 people.

A bit too juvenile for my taste. Brain Quest is more appealing and mentally stimulating.

Disappointing, but okay. Got a couple of good ideas. Overpriced for the size and content. Was hoping for more ideas for an adult bus trip..

We love to play games while driving. We don’t fly so we drive to all our destinations. This book gave us lots of ideas for playing games and having a great time while travelling.

Book is good for a few ideas but I wished it had more. Seemed like the games were pretty similar. I needed it for senior citizens on a bus and most of these games were geared toward riding in a car with a small group.

All the games were pretty lame. Not what I had in mind at all. Pretty disappointed. Some of the games were very boring.

Most of the games were unappealing to these two adults. Some require so much concentration that they could promote distracted driving.
