Synopsis

Welcome to the lowest priced book of its kind on on the web! David Calvin, author of The Dollar-A-Minute Locksmith and the Locksmith Repair Coach books, as well as others, offers this concise and pertinent summary book for individuals who are exploring the possibility of a career in lock service work. This book looks at the various aspects of the trade, gives brief synopses of each, and provides instructions on how to go about exploring those aspects. This book cuts to the chase, so to speak, and avoids any lengthy discussions about techniques and experiences. In this book, David, who has been in the locksmith trade since 1988, gives you the eleven, rock-bottom things you need to do and research before you begin your career in lock servicing. As always, David is available by phone and by email to those who purchase his books. You have a lot of work to do before you begin; but you can make your career in lock work happen quicker than you think! This is not a book about how to re-key or install locks. This is the book that gives you a clear, concise summary of the most important start-up issues you need to be thinking about. Also, after you purchase my book, you can call or email me with any questions!

Customer Reviews

He has several ideas that by themselves are worth a lot more than the cost of the book. He is also doing good works. By helping people he is doing what a good pastor does. He was saved by grace and demonstrates it by good works. I wish him God speed.

great book I am going to purchase it on payday
