My 5- and 2-year-old sons have spent HOURS on this book since I pulled it out last week. They always want me to color with them, but I'm not super interested in Paw Patrol or Thomas, and I don't usually want them to color in my adult coloring books. This book is the best of both worlds! I let them pick an animal, and we get to color together. My 2-year-old has been especially interested in the pages, and I've realized he's quite the artist...he just didn't want to color alone, so I never realized how good he is. We've been using colored pencils for our art. I think I'll end up ordering about six of these for friends for Christmas. I'm so grateful for this book and the new opportunity it's given me to bond with my boys!

I love these coloring books! I bought two, one for each of my boys. The illustrations are simple enough to color but unique enough to hang. The quality of the book itself is great. This isn't a normal coloring book, the front has a super nice almost matte feel and the paper is thicker. Each illustration has its own page so no needing to pick a side. Pages can easily be taken out. My little zoologist also loves because bunches of animals are shown from narwhals, walrus, owls, and even a unicorn. I think I'll have to order for my nieces and nephews too!

This coloring book is so lovely! We just got it today and we already love it. The care and attention to detail put into making it is evident on each and every page. The perforated pages make it really easy to tear out the pages for parent and child to work on at the same time. I love how my son can be working on a page and I can work on my own right alongside him. The adult pages have more intricate details than the kid pages, but you can still use crayons for much of it if you're so inclined. This is a plus in my opinion because I love the look of crayon coloring. The paper used for the coloring pages is higher quality than most coloring books so it holds up really well.

This book is a perfect activity for moms and their little ones on a rainy afternoon. The pages are perforated so they can be taken out of the book to color together. Although I haven't tried it myself, the introduction suggests the pages are perfect size to frame. The paper is thicker, which I appreciate in a coloring book. The backs of each page are blank so there's no worry about bleed through or missing out on one of the beautiful illustrations if I decide to hang them up when we're done coloring. Without fear of bleed through, this also means we can use markers, crayons, or pencils to color. Finally, the illustrations and fun inspiring messages make this one of my favorite coloring books to date.

My daughter loves the coloring quality time we have with this book. She loves that mommy is coloring with her and enjoying her favorite hobby! The illustrations are so adorable and fun to color. The mom and child pages are the same animal and nearly the same design but the mom page has more detail and an inspiring saying on each animal, while the child page has a somewhat simpler design and the name of the animal on each animal. The paper quality is great and I plan to frame the finished products for my daughter's room and other display walls in the house. Now that I know how much fun this book is for both me and my daughter I plan to buy one for all my mom friends as the perfect holiday gift!

This is a nice quality book with cute images for my daughters, it would be smarter if the pages in the book were right across from each other so you both could color at the same time and not have to tear them out in order to color together.

My 6 year old daughter loves to color with me. This book is laid out with two versions of the same picture on adjoining pages. A simpler version for the child and a more detailed version for the adult. The pictures are cute.

This is an excellent coloring book. The images are really cute and fun to color (not too small like other books I've found). Also, the pages are nice and thick, and perforated so they're easy to tear out. My daughter and I love coloring in this book together!
