Mary B. Woods is an elementary school librarian in the Fairfax County (VA) Public School system. She has presented at international librarians' conferences. Mary is the researcher on the Woods team, and Michael is the writer. They have written almost 40 books.

This is a nice little book. It describes the six simple machines: lever, wheel/axle, inclined plane, pulley, wedge and the screw. I plan to use it for teaching my child. I like how the book describes examples of the machines, shows how some of them were used in different regions of the world (Middle East, Egypt, China, the Americas, Greece and Rome). It also includes color photos of stone carvings of the machines being used, as discovered at various archaeological sites.

send it to my grandmother, very useful. Great little business. Lovely, friendly follow-up. Awesome bread product. Go get yourself one. next day arrive. Nice and valuable.
