ASCE recognized his achievements with distinguished membership (Dist.M.ASCE) in 2006. Also in 2006, the Construction Industry Institute (CII) awarded him the prestigious Carroll H. Dunn Award of Excellence, CII's highest award. He is a member of the National Academy of Construction (NAC) and was named a Distinguished Alumnus of the Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering at the University of Illinois in 2008. Bolivar A. Senior BOLIVAR A. SENIOR is Associate Professor in the Department of Construction Management at Colorado State University. He has extensive experience in the management of construction projects. He headed Senior Brown Associates, Inc., consultants in the area of planning and control, and served as project manager for several companies in his native country, Dominican Republic. He has published many articles and a book in the areas of project planning and control, financial management and construction management education.

it’s a pretty good book, but there are a few cases of it skipping steps without any information on how to complete some of the financial problems.

Some of the cost analysis could use a little more of a breakdown. Parts of the book are clear but other are confusing requiring more of a detailed explanation.

Didn’t utilize the book too much in class but it did it’s job when called upon

Product as stated.

Great product

Good

useful for the class it was purchased for. Would not suggest buying unless mandatory for the class, but was useful.

Needed it for class. Decent book
