my 9 yr old daughter loves it, and I love that she is getting a head start on this kind of reading. When she is ready for the real book, she will have an idea about what she is reading and for now, she can get the references to these stories.

Diane Namm does a great job with the myths of all the countries. They are interesting and a great way to get 6th graders to enhance the myths they are studying.

I have been purchasing the classic start series books and reading them along with my child for the past six months. We have enjoyed every one we have read together. The classic starts are abridged "introductions" to the classic novels, meaning that the story line is still intact without all of the difficult dialogue that is often in a classic heavy read. The chapter length and wording are appropriate for elementary-aged children to read on their own.We find this book, "Greek Myths" very exciting. It is a group of short tales including Jason and the Golden Fleece, Heracles, Perseus, Icarus, The Minotaur, and more. The book explains how the greek gods came to be and then tells stories involving them. It is a great introduction for a child into the classic greek myths.

I like the book it is just what my granddaughter needed. She is so excited finally a book she can read and understand about Greek Myths.

My eight and ten year old granddaughters thoroughly enjoyed my reading this to them. Was a great bonding time for all of us.

Purchase this for my grandson to help him practice his reading skills. He’s doing well.

My children love it. It is written at a kid level with the main points still intact. These are not your regular abridged books.
