I’ve read several of John C. Maxwell’s books on leadership and some of them have been easier to read than others for me. This is a well written book with some great practical information that anyone can learn from. Who doesn’t need to learn to communicate better? This book gives some great ways to connect with an audience as a speaker, with an individual or with small groups. We all communicate but connecting is something we all need to learn to do well so that our communication is more effective. This book is not filled with tricks but some well tested ways to genuinely connect with others.

This book was just amazing. I look at it as a manual in connecting. John really knows what he is talking about and can teach this topic inside and out. I also like how he included the names of everyone in the back of the book proving that he practices what he teaches!!
