I am from Kuwait doing a country study for one of my classes in my university, I was heavily researching sources to support experiences my own family went through. I am 21 years old, I will never pretend I went through a hard time, but many of my family members died because of the Iraqi invasion. My family has seen everything and been through the worse of times. Here in Florida I need viable sources to support my claims of how screwed up the time of the Iraqi invision was. My grandfather used to tell me it felt literally like hell, wells burning everyone and soldiers turning into rapists and murderers, all humanity completely lost in their eyes. Who else wouldn't describe as horribly? It hurts me to see such ignorant people claiming these are lies, that's how innocent people get massacred, that's how mass murders are done with no consequences. We need more books like these, to show the world how to stop senseless killings and get us closer to peace rather than violence. I am very happy I found this source for my paper.

A very tough book, it was the first time I read something about Kuwait and it was very interesting. I really liked this book.

this was a gift

I enjoyed the information in this short book. I would have liked a few more details and personal experiences, but the ones given were good.

Highly recommend!

Riveting!!

This book was bought for my daughter Krissie, who is a student at BallState University. She said the book is excellent and I am taking her word on that.
