Judy Carter has been hooking rugs and teaching her fine-cut techniques for many years. Her work has appeared in Rug Hooking magazine and in Celebration of Hand-Hooked Rugs. She is in demand as a teacher and travels nationally to rug hooking schools and camps, sharing her tips and techniques. She designs and creates her animal portraits from her home studio in Willow Street, Pennsylvania.

Great photos and invaluable information on Hooking animals! Love it!!! The section on eyes is my favorite. Well done Judy!

If you’ve seen Judy Carter’s rugs you know she is a master at bringing animals to life in hooked rugs. Her explanations are detailed and well illustrated. I couldn’t ask for a better resource.

I love the photo’s which clearly highlight the expert techniques achieved in each of the accompanying selected works. The beautifully photographed and detailed descriptions of the variety of works shows the high skill level that may be achieved and gives new hookers something to strive for.

I ordered the book for my mother and this is what she said: The detailed explanations are awesome, and I am really enjoying this book! .The author was very thorough, and her easy-to-follow instructions were extremely helpful.

Even if you never intend to hook animals, just looking at all the astounding photographs is worth the purchase price.

A great book on getting some much needed tips and ideas on how to hook animals, well written and with hook in hand I am looking forward to incorporating her suggestions. Another lovely gift, thanks Ron.

I like this book so much I have not done any rugs yet and I don’t no if I will are not.This is a really nice book i picked it because of the section on eyes .Her book is every thing that was said .

Great example of animal hooking
