This book is HEAVILY tied to an online framework at [...], access to which is provided by a code inside the front cover. Based on a quick response from their support line, that code is good for one year of access for one person. Additional years or additional people cost $30/ea for just the code so it’s currently a better deal just to buy multiple books for the first year for each person.Lots of questions can be answered here: (removes URLs so see my comment outside the review below.)Essentially to make best use of this book you need individual Minecraft accounts and individual learntomod.com accounts for each person both teacher and student.With that said, the framework they use looks really nice. It’s essentially Scratch for Minecraft Mods. This would be especially good for younger programmers who may not grasp the concepts of loops and conditionals without the visual reminders languages like Scratch provide.

The book is outdated with the website. I taught a class of 20 kids with it. One coding exercise that took over two hours didn’t even work - and we copied it verbatim. I don’t recommend even though it has it’s own website. Maybe do the online learning thing on the website instead.fnord

Got this as a Christmas gift for my 10YO daughter who is a avid fan of the desktop and PE Minecraft game editions. She’s been using this most of her break with the desktop MAC version.We did have some issues with the book not matching the online lessons, but I emailed the help and they got back to me within 2 hours! They sent some links and mentions that the website was updated to improve. They even sent a follow-up email.

Seems to be working well for my 12 year-old nephew. He works very fast using the drag-and-drop method, creating new characters. He’s only up to page 43 in the book.

I guess they updated the website you use in conjunction with this book and everything’s off. Like the very first ’badge’ you’re suppose to get in the book isn’t even a thing on the website. Was disappointed with this purchase.

We bought this as a christmas present for my son. Now that it is summer we wanted to use it, and now realize you have to pay an additional $30 to use this product. This additional fee was not listed when we purchased the book or in the product description. This book is a rip off. I want my money back.

It didn’t hold my homeschooled sons attention. I wish we had just stuck with the website as he liked that interface better.

My 7 YO was very excited to get this book. Happy with this purchase.
