Synopsis

This is a packaged board book collection that includes My First Sikh Boy Book and My First Sikh Girl Book and coloring books for each of these titles in an easy to carry boxed set with handle. These books are designed for parents of toddlers and early reading young children to gain awareness of the Sikh identity and values. They are richly illustrated to show images of young Sikhs living with Sikh ideals. These books are perfect for families with young Sikh children or for giving to non-Sikhs who want to gain a better understanding of basic Sikh ideals. They are also good to share in schools and libraries to foster greater awareness in communities where young Sikhs are growing.

Parveen Kaur Dhillon is a US born Sikh and the mother of three young children. She has a Masters in Education from the University of Virginia and a BA in History from Loyola University. She actively promotes efforts to develop resources to help increase awareness of Sikh community issues among mainstream American audiences as well as builds solidarity within the Sikh diaspora in America. January, 2015--Look out for Parveen Kaur's latest book, Lohri The Bonfire Festival! Ã Â A fun and vibrant story with the characters from My First Sikh Books about the Punjabi Festival of Lohri! I bought these for my biracial son because representation is very important. Especially since there isn’t a lot of positive representation in American media. I would definitely recommend these for every Sikh child to have in their personal library. I think the coloring books are a nice addition and the informational pamphlet is good for anyone who isn’t familiar with the Sikh religion. The only reason these books did not get a full five stars is because the books are only in English. There is no Gurmurkhi script or even any Romanized text version of Punjabi.

Wonderful books. My 2 year old loves both, as do I. Easy to relate to - my son points to the aunty and says "nani". We are Sikh, but cut his hair, so I want to make sure he gets lots of exposure to sikh images with kids with uncut hair.

The product arrived in perfect packaging and was of very high quality.. Very pleased with it.. Thanks...

A job well done. Kids find it interesting.I wanted to hold back one star for the high price of this book but since they are not many publishers who cater in this genre, I would give full marks (but a little lesser price would still be appreciated.)

Excellent book. Wish there was more like this. Only reason it’s 3 starts vs 5 is because of the price. Very expensive for what your getting.

Great book to read to your young Sikhs!

These are very well made and written. Will highly recommend these for introducing your kids to Punjabi.
