Love this whole series! There are books for every continent! As a homeschool mom with a middle schooler, we have found these the perfect books to help us study world geography this school year! We are on our third book now-working through all of the books in this series - about one per month until we study all 7 Continents. Great hands on activity suggestions, as well as reading selections and comprehension questions and maps to learn more about the continent in good depth. A very nice choice for middle school geography studies!

Great addition to my Social Studies units!
