Synopsis

FAMILIES, SCHOOLS, AND COMMUNITIES: TOGETHER FOR YOUNG CHILDREN, 5th Edition, emphasizes the role of families and communities in children’s education, and is geared to meeting national standards in teacher preparation programs. Content reflects current research and best practices in education. Divided into two sections, this book helps you understand contemporary families and provides you with the skills that you will need to build relationships with families and the community. You’ll find specific ideas and strategies for increasing family involvement in the community and schools, encouraging learning at home, working with military families, recognizing family strengths, diversity in the classroom, and many other topics. New content includes integration of current standards and a new video feature as well as expanded material on advocacy, technology, and strategies for dealing with parents. Available with InfoTrac Student Collections http://gocengage.com/infotrac.

Customer Reviews

"The book aligns well with the topics in our course. It continues to integrate theory with content providing a strong rationale and foundational base. It includes standards and discusses the role/responsibility of teachers in the partnership with parents. A solid text for our course.""It has a strong theoretical foundation and [is] rooted in NAEYC standards. The text delivers appropriate skills and knowledge regarding working with families and communities. There are many resources and supplements to aid you in your instruction."

Donna Couchenour is a Professor of Early Childhood Education in the Teacher Education Department at Shippensburg University. A member of the NAEYC Professional Development Panel, she received her Ph.D. in Human Development and Family Studies from Ohio State.Kent Chrisman is Associate Professor of Early Childhood Education in the Teacher Education Department at Shippensburg University. He received his Ed.D. in Educational Supervision at the University of Louisville, and is a member of the Pennsylvania Early Care and Education State Advisory Committee as well as the Pennsylvania TEACH Advisory Board.

Bought this for my wife used because it said "good" condition but upon opening the package the book was anything but in good condition. There was water stains or coffee I honestly dont know but it damaged half the book and the cover looks like a fruit rollup because it wouldn’t even close. Overall its usable but honestly I rather would have bought this new or on ebook if I would have known the condition.

This book helped me to see families as a whole as opposed to just working with the child in an early childhood program. I recommend this book to both teachers and students working and or studying in early childhood programs. It’s an informative book with web resources that are available for families to help them with all their needs; it also serves as a reference book for teachers. This book provides the professional educator the tools necessary to create and maintain a relationship with the child, families, and community.

I am very upset to get a brand new book and pay over $120 to receive a book that has water damage...unacceptable. If I didn’t need it today for my course that begins today I would have returned it..

It was very informative. I had to buy this book for college. I’m studying child development. It taught me that not only do you have family but you have to include school and the community.

The lessons are great, class will be over in December 2016

Great text book

I like buying my books from . The price is right.

Required reading for a course I am taking. The format of the table of content makes it easy to navigate the book when you are looking for information to answer questions.
