Synopsis

It’s the evening before your research paper is due, and you’re staring at an empty, white computer screen. The cursor is pulsing, the clock is ticking, and you’re panicking. Sound familiar? It’s a scenario that all young adults will face, and with it comes stress, dread, pessimism, and writer’s block. According to the National Center for Education Statistics, four out of five students are not proficient writers. This book will teach young adults everything they need to know about writing a paper, from crafting an outline to finalizing the documentation. We interviewed experienced teachers who explain exactly what they want from student papers, and we show you how to achieve it. If you need inspiration and motivation for writing your next paper, this book can be exactly what you need to start and finish that research paper with impressive vocabulary, smooth transitions, and concise details that teachers won’t want to lay a red pen on.
